

DiDRR activities by Porque, the Japanese organization of persons with psychosocial disabilities

Porque, the organization of persons with psychosocial disabilities in Japan, has developed a strong interest in how disaster prevention and mitigation should be carried out for persons with psychosocial disabilities.

In recent years, in collaboration with the National Institute of Neurology and Psychiatry, they have conducted interviews with persons with psychosocial disabilities who experienced the Great East Japan Earthquake and the Kumamoto Earthquake and their supporters, with the aim of developing concrete social implementation in the future. They also developed the video material for learning from each other's experiences of people with psychosocial and developmental disabilities affected by the disaster.

Porque visited the APCA on the 19th of November 2024 and shared their experiences with each other.
